

Renewal of Vows Ceremony for
«Groom» and «Bride» «Last Name»
On «Vow Renewal Date»

We have come together today, family and friends, to celebrate with «Groom» and «Bride» the love they have discovered in each other, and to offer support as they recommit themselves to one another.

We are here to witness an important event in the lives of these two people, a joyous occasion. We are here to share in their joy.

Life is like a long walk, and it can be taken alone; but love makes it more enjoyable. As we walk through the growth of life, we should always remember the lessons of the past, hope for the promise of the future, and allow room for happiness.

Please join hands and «Groom», repeat after me:

I, «Groom», promise to be your loving and faithful husband, - to be a good and constant friend. – To accept you for who you are, - the way you are, - and what you are.

«Bride», repeat after me:

I, «Bride», promise to be your loving and faithful wife, - to be a good and constant friend. – To accept you for who you are, - the way you are, - and what you are.

«Groom» says: «also put on index cards»

I will always cherish and honor the vows that go with my wedding ring and I promise that I will never be without it.

«Bride» says: «also put on index cards»

I will always cherish and honor the vows that go with my wedding ring and I promise that I will never be without it.

May this love that you share, which surpasses all understanding, strengthen your hearts and minds and allow joy to pervade your lives together.

May your home be forever a place of peace and true fulfillment.

Today you have exchanged promises with each other. Promises which commit you together as husband and wife.

You may now seal those promises with a kiss!
